THE TRUTH ABOUT SPORT
IS NEVER A KNOCKDUKE INVITED TO AUSTRALIA
TO SWIM

Would Go as Guest of Athletic Associations and Remain Two Months in the Antipodes—Likely to Accept

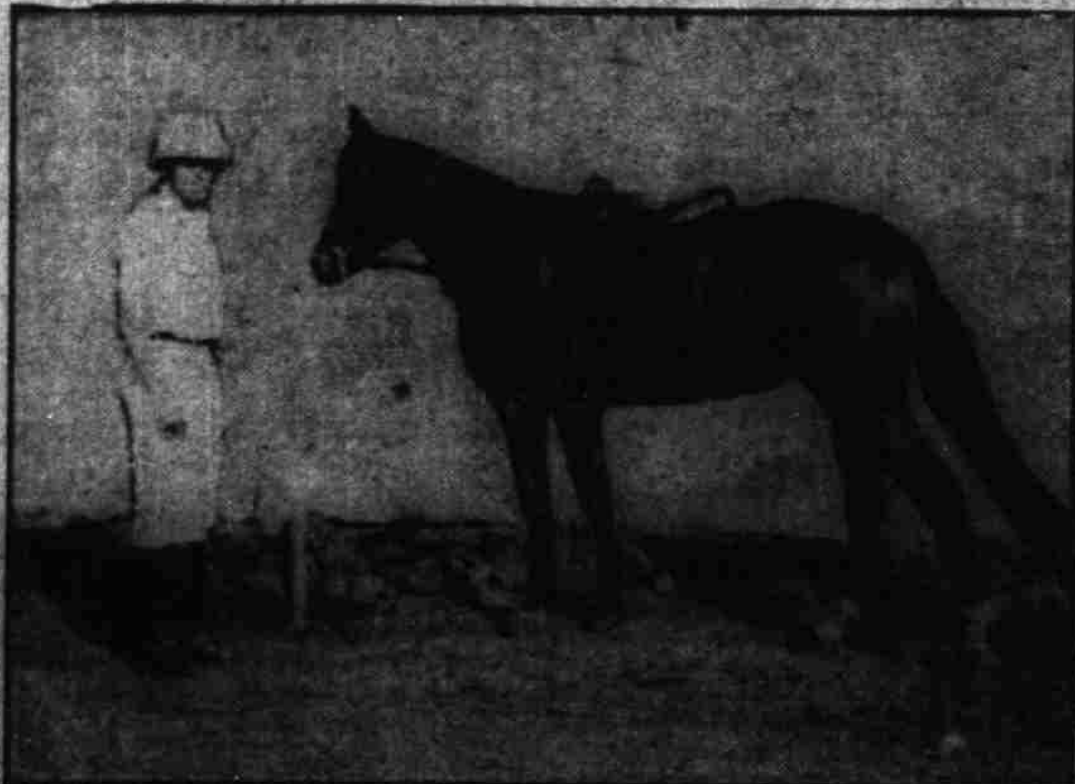

Duke Kahanamoku may go to Australia on the next boat, for a stay of two or three months in the Antipodes. He has been asked to Sydney as the guest of the athletic association of the city, to give swimming exhibitions, and to take part in races against the best watermen Australia has produced.

The cable invitation arrived last night, and Duke hasn't quite made up his mind whether to make the trip or not. The chances are that he will do so, as there is really nothing to keep him in Hawaii, and as the chance is an exceptional one.

To win honors in Australia, the home of speed swimming, would be a great finish to Duke's American and European trip, which ended with a simple championship. He is in just as good shape now as when he swam at Stockholm, and his friends are urging him to make the Australian tour and come back with fresh honors.

All-Hawaii Polo Team Takes
Final Game From The Cavalry

SAM BALDWIN.
Giving the team a top-notch kick.

By LAURENCE REDINGTON.

PROBABLY the last match game on the Coast next spring. Practice that the fast Fifth Cavalry polo team will play on Hawaiian soil, took place at Leilani yesterday, and ended with the score All-Hawaii 5, Cavalry 0. It was fast polo through-out, and the final figures hardly represent the fortunes of the game, for both sides had several chances to score which they failed to convert. With the usual average of goal hitting, the score would have been about 10 to 2.

The Cavalry tightened its defense considerably, and the game was by no means the walk-away that the contest of last Saturday turned out to be. It was a hard riding game, but the ball didn't travel as fast or as cleanly as in the former contest, due to part to the field, which was rough, and somewhat dusty, and partly to the fact that everyone seemed to be hitting high. However, it was a good game from the spectators' standpoint, and it unquestionably helped the men who are going to try their fortunes in the combination.

The Cavalry used two extra men, Forsyth dropping out after the fourth period, Millikin going in, and Shortland retiring after the fifth to give Heffernan a chance.

There was a good deal of hanging on the ball during the first period, and the sphere was continually hitting the ponies and bouncing out at unexpected angles. This was discouraging, and it plainly affected the team work of both sides. There was no score in the period, although the ball was dangerously close to both goals more than once. For the most part, however, the play was in Cavalry territory.

The second period saw a single goal by Rice. Towards the end of the period the Cavalry took a grand brace, good work by all the team bringing the ball within easy scoring distance three separate times. The goal hitting of the army men was weak yesterday, and this alone kept them from getting a few to their credit.

Walter Dillingham made a beautiful quartering goal off a long shot soon after play opened in the third. The Greens had another good chance a few minutes later, when Dillingham centered to Rice, who just failed to get the ball through with a back-hander, after a mix-up just in front of the posts. When half time was called the score stood 2 to 0 in favor of the All-Hawians.

Castle scored the only goal of the fourth period. Most of the play was close to the sidelines, and the ponies were jumping on and off the field, with bewildering frequency. There was more hitting against the boards than has been seen in any game this season.

Sam Baldwin celebrated his entry into the game in the fifth by completing a sensational run the entire length of the field. He passed to Dillingham, who tried for a difficult near side goal, the ball just missing the posts. For a couple of minutes the Greens were playing with only three men. Sam Baldwin breaking a stirrup and having to change. The goal was scored after the whistle blew, the Greens carrying the ball more than half the length of the field, and Dillingham putting it through after Frank Baldwin had backed it into position.

A high lofted goal by Castle in the sixth period was the final score of the game.

The Cavalry players have shown the best of sportsmanship in getting back into the game as trial horses for the All-Hawians, and it was with mutual regret that the series was ended yesterday. Both sides would like to play another game Saturday, but as the local ponies are to be shipped on the 28, this was considered too risky. If one of the mounts was knocked out there would be no time to nurse it back into shape, and it would have to be left behind.

Captain Forsyth has come to the front for the honor of Hawaii by lending Arthur Rice two of his best ponies for the Coast campaign. This greatly strengthens the Hawaiian string.

There was a good sized crowd on the side lines yesterday, post society turning out in force, while polo en-

BASKETBALL GAME
POSTPONED
3 DAYS

The second basketball game of the season is to be played next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, between Punahou and St. Andrew's Priory, and will be played at Punahou. It was announced in the schedule that the game would be played on Friday of this week but the Punahou students are giving a play, "La Lettre Chargee," that afternoon, so it was necessary to postpone the game.

Punahou has already played one game this season but the brush on Monday will be the Priory's first. The girls have been practicing every afternoon lately, in preparation for the game and Miss Cunningham, the Priory coach, feels well satisfied with the result so far obtained. The girls who will represent the Priory on Monday and the positions they will play are as follows:

Forwards, Agnes Frendo, Elizabeth Kaep, Mary Hart (manager), Irene Davidson; Centers, Rose Cummings (captain), Charlotte Topp.

These girls also, played on the Priory Basketball team last year, and consequently they have some experience in the game. Miss Cunningham has been giving them special drills in team work and as team work seemed to be lacking to quite an extent in the game last Monday, this preparation is apt to prove beneficial.

The officials for the game will be as follows: Miss Josephine Pratt, referee; Miss Olive Olson, umpire. The linesmen will be chosen from the students of either school. The game is to be divided into two halves of fifteen minutes each.

The game should be an exceedingly good one as both teams are evenly matched. The Priory has seen Punahou in action and this should show them what points they need special work in. Punahou had played one game and won and therefore should go into the game on Monday with confidence. They know their weakness and strength and should prepare accordingly. Both teams should look the part with which the game last Monday began. Punahou has had a chance to overcome it and their confidence and lack of restraint will be transmitted to the Priory girls, if they feel any. This restraint in the game last Monday was natural as it was the first game of the season and many of the girls were playing their first game and consequently felt nervous.

Now the Punahou girls have had one game, and most of the Priory players have played before, so there will be nothing to retard the game. Quite a number of people attended the game last Monday but a still larger number is expected at the next contest.

The Dark Horses came to life last night and took two out of three from the Breakers, dropping the first game by 90 pins, and then winning the remainder by safe margins. This puts the team out of the cellar, and the players are much encouraged.

Scott had both high average and score, 168 and 207, for the Dark Horses.

For the Breakers Henry White had high average, 163, and Tinker high score, 190.

Franz bowled seven straight strikes just before the match, and remarked that he was "back in the game," but he wasn't back in the three games he bowled.

Enthusiasts from town were also in evidence.

The game, which was shortened to six 6-minute periods, was efficiently refereed by Lieutenant Baird. No penalties were called, and a rather remarkable feature of the play was the few knock-outs, the ball seldom passing over the line.

New Crop Of Heavyweights Now
Seeking Ring Laurels And Cash

AL KAUFMAN.

IS a new and strange crop of heavyweights that fits past the reviewing stand these days. Palmer, Wells, McCarthy, McMahon, Willard, "Gunboat" Smith and Charley Miller belong to a new generation. The majority of big men who drew the headlines a few years ago have passed on to the minor leagues.

Only one of the old line fighters remains to rattle the temper of the reigning squad of present times. He is Jim Flynn, who recently on the coast defeated a rib or two for "Truck Horse" Charley Miller, upon whom Flynn had tied the first glove a few seasons back. Flynn is about the one veteran who debuted a decade ago that is still able to stand up and whack with the young bloods successfully.

Flynn has outlived Harry Kaufman, Savage, Ross, Kubiak, Willie, Jim Smith, Tommy Burns, Mike Shreck, Marvin Hart and Sandy Ferguson. It wasn't such a great while ago that Al Kaufman was being boomed for the confusion of the ponderous class. He was going along, ripping in the good night blast on all who thought they stacked with him. His mess of K. O.'s included the name of Jim Flynn, setting that gentleman back a mile in his futile adventuring. As a strange coincidence Flynn parleyed with big Al at Kansas City in May, 1911, and turned the world upside down for the Californian. Kaufman was given a beating that his memory will recall forever, if not longer.

The drubbing drove Kaufman to the rocks, and he has not had a good fight in him since. Luther McCarthy recently knocked out Al in two rounds. It's back to the butcher shop for Al.

Jim Barry, who knocked out "Gunboat" Smith in 1910, is on his last legs. He gets beat upon each appearance in fighting togs. In days gone by Jim could rattle his fists some. Once he whipped Langford. Tony Ross recently was barred by the New York boxing commission. He doesn't seem able to get in shape any more.

The successors of these men are battling today. Most of them are comparatively inexperienced yet. Wells has been boxing three years, McMahon, four, "Gunboat" Smith four, McCarthy two, Miller five, Palmer two, Willard one.

According to the Eastern papers Rex Hitchcock, the former Panhandle student, who was ruled out of the Harvard-Brown game for sleeping, did not do so intentionally, and the incident closed with the imposition of the 30 yard penalty against Harvard. There was some talk of ruling Hitchcock out for the rest of the season, but no such action was taken until his own explanation of the difficulty.

The following is from the New York World of recent date.

"Hitchcock, who is a good natured sort of chap and slow to anger, denies that the blow he struck Crowther was intentional. He pushed the Brown quarterback, he says, intending to shoulder him, but as Crowther was tackled just at that time his attempt went awry and landed in the visitor's face. The Central Rules Committee of the college authorities could, if they believed the blow was intentional, suspend the offender for the rest of the season."

"Harvard's playing was much less aggressive Saturday, and if the same tactics are adopted against Princeton and if the Tigers return with their compliments a similar method of treatment the officials for that contest surely will have their hands full. Crowther on Saturday suffered from more than Hitchcock's attack. Three and four husky men were pulled off him time and time again when there was absolutely no need of such drastic measures being adopted to down him."

YOUNG KETCHEL IS
FIGHT

Lightweight Who Has Made a Good Showing on the Coast Wants a Chance to Show Honolulu Ring Fans—On the Sierra

Another boxer from the Coast is in town on the trail of an engagement. Young Ketchel, a likely-looking lightweight of San Francisco, arrived here on the Sierra, and last night issued a challenge to all comers in his class, George Ingle preferred.

Ketchel is a shifty youngster, who has been coming to the front in San Francisco in the short-bout line, and has appeared in preliminaries to some of the first-class matches. He is managed here by J. McArthur, of San Sierra, and last night Manager McArthur called on the moving editor of the Star-Bulletin to issue a challenge to any light or featherweight in the islands. Ketchel appeared as a featherer in his last engagement, and will make 125 pounds at any time, either on or ringside.

Manager McArthur has high praise for the San Franciscan. He says that Ketchel out of thirty-seven bouts has lost only six on decisions and one by a knockout, winning all the others. He scored sixteen straight knockouts.

"He is the kind of fighter that these here will like to see," says McArthur. "He is fighting all the time, fast on his feet, and a hard hitter. His last fight was with Jim Scanlan, a preliminary to the McArthur-McCoy fight in San Francisco on the night of Nov. 1. He knocked Scanlan out in three rounds. He wins most of his fights by knockouts. We want to get Ingle and we will make any reasonable terms to do it."

So, matchmakers, there's your chance to get busy and frame up another go. Several of the coast papers speak well of the showing Young Ketchel made against Scanlan, the San Francisco Bulletin's fight sheet giving him credit for pulling off a clean win in a hurry.

McArthur can be reached in care of the city's department, telephone 1077.

HITCHCOCK IS NOT SUSPENDED
